

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A light-receiving element having a light-receiving portion is formed on a chip surface. A digital circuit element, an analog circuit element and a 5 circuit adjusting element are provided for cooperatively processing a detection signal produced from the light-receiving element. And, a light-shielding film is provided for selectively setting a light-receiving region on the chip surface.

10